

Rules for usage within the SHS network

Computer resources, networks and other equipment provided by SHS is primarily intended for educational activities but may under certain conditions be used for other non-profit purposes, like personal development. However, this is only allowed on condition that no primary activity is disturbed and current law and legislation is followed proper. SHS is linked to the Swedish University Computer Network (SUNET). Usage is governed by SUNET regulations and SUNET ethical rules. In addition, SHS has it's own rules.

Rules

1. The authorization applies to a private person. This person is not allowed to sell or in any other way further transfer the authorized net capacity.
2. Users will keep their passwords classified and will choose their passwords with care in order to hamper disclosing via a codebreaker.
3. The authorization is time limited and will be deactivated once the student leaves the college or SHS.
4. Any commercial use of SHS resources is strictly prohibited.
5. No user may under any circumstances utilize the SHS services in such a way that may cause SHS, the university or Skövdebostäder to receive a bad reputation. The user must comply with current legislation, including but not limited to copyright legislation. The user may not publish materials that can be considered offensive or questionable.
6. E-mail account should be checked regularly by the user for any information from SHS.
